

Allowing cell phone use during flights is a terrible idea. Make that, a horrible idea. Make that, a nightmare scenario of noise pollution. Flying these days is stressful enough without subjecting passengers to the drivel and babble of cell phone conversations from someone they are stuck sitting next to for 4 hours or worse! It would be a seriously offensive invasion of privacy.